DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the lens attaching and detaching means of claims 4, 10, 17; and the plurality of lens sections and the lens selecting means of claims 5 and 11 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-3, 6, 7, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fukuda et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2003/0040346 A1).

Fukuda et al. shows a folding type camera device in Figs. 1A and 1B; a first casing 10 having a photosensor section 18; a second casing 12 having a lens section 28; and a pivoting connecting section 14. Casing 10 is on a display side and casing 12 is on an operation panel side.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 4 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fukuda et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2003/0040346 A1) in view of Takachi (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2003/0137595 A1).

Fukuda et al. shows the claimed invention, as explained above, except for a lens attaching and detaching means. Takachi, in Fig. 3 shows a lens attaching and detaching means as screw threads. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of applicant's invention, to provide the lens section 18 (and 28) with screw threads in order to obtain the desirable feature of being able to use lenses of different focal length or to replace a damaged lens.

6. Claims 5 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fukuda et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2003/0040346 A1) in view of Nakamura et al. in view of Chen. (U.S. Patent No. 6,643,457).

Fukuda et al. shows the claimed invention, as explained above, except for a plurality of the lens sections and a lens selecting means. Chen shows a camera having a rotating turret or slide mechanism for selecting lenses of different focal lengths. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the device of Fukuda et al. with a plurality of lens in the section 18 or 28 and a selecting mechanism, in order to obtain the desirable feature selective image magnification.

7. Claim 13 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fukuda et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication 2003/0040346 A1) in view of Sato et al. (Patent Application Publication U.S. 2004/0048633 A1).

Fukuda et al. shows the claimed invention except for a sub-display section on a side opposite the light receiving side of the photosensor section and displaying the image generated from the photosensor section. Sato et al. discloses a folding type camera device in Figs. 1A and 1B showing a camera 10 and display 11 on one side of the display casing and a camera 8 and a display 7 on the other side of the casing. In the open position, pictures can be taken by either camera. The taken picture is displayed on both displays. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of applicant's invention, to provide a camera and display on the other face of the casing 10 in Fukuda et al. in order to obtain the desirable feature of obtaining pictures from either side of the telephone, when in the open position, and to display them on both displays in order for both user and subject to see the pictures.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 8 and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. Claims 14-20 are allowed.

Reasons for Patentability

10. The primary reason for patentability of claims 8 and 9 is the claim 8 limitation that in the folded state, where the photosensor and lens sections are superposed on each other, the side opposite from the display screen side of the first casing and the side opposite from the operation panel face each other. The primary reason for patentability of claims 14-20 is the claim 14 limitations for both the first and second casing having a photosensor section and both the first and second casing having a lens section that projects an image on the photosensor in the other casing.
